Forgetfulness of one's relationship with God is the cause of one's entanglement in the web of sorrows. Bhagavad-gita is complete, due to its being spoken by the supreme perfect person, Lord Sri Krishna. It is a compendium of spiritual knowledge evolved to stand by the human society in their struggle for existence and confers upon victory. In this juncture, it is rightly observed that Arjuna stands as a perfect example. In the long run of life, human being experiences miseries through body and mind, sorrows inflicted by other living beings and sufferings caused by natural calamities. To overcome such situations, there is no other way except to follow Bhagavad-gita.

One who follows Bhagavad-gītā in his life realizes that Lord Krishna alone is the supreme personality and surrendering unto Him is the only solace. One can achieve life's perfection simply by taking shelter of Bhagavad-gītā.

Bhagavad-gītā provides answers for each and every situation we come across in our life. We have furnished some questions here under illustrating the chapter numbers and slokas for answers from Bhagavad-gītā (For instance B.G.stands for Bhagavad-gītā and 2.22 stands for 22nd sloka in the 2nd chapter.
